Aspen is Named to Inbound Logistics Top 100 Third Party Logistics List

Temecula, CA. 07.23.10 – Inbound Logistics Magazine names Aspen in its 2010 list of Top 100 third party logistics (3PL) companies. This is the sixth year in a row that Aspen has been recognized by the magazine. With their facilities expanding across the United States, a new strategic partnership with Network Distribution Solutions (NDS), and the addition of new robust services, this announcement has added to an already exciting year. The company sees the selection as an important benchmark in their drive to have the Aspen brand recognized as dedicated to industry leading services as well as a strong culture, values, and relationships.

Aspen has always driven their brand of solutions as industry leading, but two years ago they defined their niche differentiators within the supply chain industry: beating key performance indicators (KPI) and creating trustful relationships. Both these attributes are essential to building robust solutions in today's unstable economic environment. K.P.I.'s are essential performance measurements within specific services. Aspen is consistently surpassing these measurements, giving their customers flexibility at a time when profit margins are already razor thin. To acclimate to today's business needs, which are changing at light speed, Aspen feels that relationships are paramount. When you understand your customer inside-and-out, and even their customer inside-and-out, only then will you be able to adapt at a pace that's equal to the need.

The first 6 months of 2010 have been exciting for Aspen. While most in the industry are experiencing some stagnation or a decline in service, Aspen has seen growth. The second generation family-owned business has grown to incorporate 12 locations, including a campus style environment in Salt Lake City, and a fleet of vehicles. Also a big win this year was their selection to NDS as the western regions carrier for the network. This is a great opportunity for the company and their customers. The network will expand Aspen's footprint nationally. Offering a larger service area but, maintaining the same customer satisfaction that they are known for. The company has also won some significant customers from the confectionary and food industries. Aspen hopes to keep this momentum through the remainder of 2010.
